

PROFIT TAKING SENDS STOCKS ON DOWNGRADE

Sugar Issues Register Fractional Declines on Change; Trading Very Heavy

After yesterday's phenomenal and unorganized advance of the prices of sugar issues on the local exchange, quick profit taking by the lucky owners today tended to depress the prices at the active share by fractions, but even in the face of sales totalling more than 500 shares no one issue declined much as one full point.

Between boards during the last 24 hours the sales made totalled 4,278 shares, with Oahu, McBryde and Walahine the market leaders, and at this morning's session the sales came to 961 shares, with McBryde and Pioneer the issues most in demand.

Oahu, which sold yesterday at $7.75, sold at 7 this morning, with offerings of the latter figure at this close. McBryde held firm at 18 with trades in excess of 100 shares, and closed with a firm bid of 18 and offerings at one-eighth above that figure.

Walahine declined three quarters, and closed firm at $25.75, and Pioneer and Onomea registered the same decline in closing bids.

ALEXANDER BEATS SHORE IN GREAT CONTEST, 3 TO 1

... when into the enclosure that had been built for 20,000 persons, some eight hundred brought their lunches, and remained in line throughout the night. A third, sleeping men gathered there that wanted to be sure of an opportunity to watch the two teams in action. The heavy rain of last night soaked the field, and made the infield泥. This morning the sky was clear overhead, and when the team marched to the field the stands were filled with spectators. The 11th Army football team was in favor of Philadelphia for today's game. The Quaker bank was offering three to two on the favorite, but there were but little betting compared to other series in the great contest. Sojourner was the favorite for the series with the odds at six to five. Alexander was expected to be the big winner in the contest. This far the betting was even, so far as placing of the first six to win in six or seven games.

A. F. Cooke Made One of Founders Of Historians

Anton Franklin Cooke of Honolulu recently was elected one of the original founders of the National Historical Society by the executive committee of that organization at a meeting in New York City, according to a letter received today by the Star-Bulletin from the secretary of the society.

At the present time the National Historical Society has representatives in 15 states. It was incorporated at Washington, D. C., on April 26, 1916, "for the purpose of promoting historical knowledge and study, patriotism and the sense of rightmindedness among nations."

Other purposes of the organization are set forth in the articles of incorporation as follows:

"To discover, procure, preserve and perpetuate whatever relates to history, the history of the western hemisphere, the history of the United States of America and their colonies, and the histories of families.

"To provide a national and international patriotic clearing house and bimonthly exchange, promoting by suitable means helpful forms of communication and cooperation between all historical organizations, patriotic orders and kindred societies, local, state, national and international, and the institutions of all may be increased and their benefits extended toward education and patriotism."

DR. N. B. EMERSON LATE POLICE SURGEON OWNED LOCAL SUGAR STOCKS

An inventory of the estate of Nathaniel B. Emerson, late Honolulu police surgeon, who died at sea a few days ago, was filed in the probate division of the Suo Superior Court today by the Trust Company, executors.

The inventory shows that the estate is valued at about $724,000, and that it consists largely of stocks and bonds in Hawaiian and other corporations. Among the stocks are 30 shares in the Waialae Agricultural Company, valued at $1,000; 100 shares in the McBryde Sugar Company, valued at three; 50 shares in the Oahu Sugar Company, valued at $100; 57 shares in the Oahu Sugar Company, valued at $1,500; and 40 shares in the Ewa Plantation Company, valued at $800.

The estate also is the holder of 20 shares in the American Telephone Company which, says the inventory, are of no value. The inventory contains household furniture and other effects, valued at $150, and jewelry valued at $100.

Circuit Judge Whitney today appointed John MacCallum, H. Cushman Carter and Joseph G. Pratt as administrators of the estate.
